

Transport & Tourism

The aim of this course is to help students understand the role of transport in tourism and its impact on the development of tourist destinations. The course provides a thorough examination of tourist transport (surface, air and water transportation), its role in the tourism system and overall travel experience as well as the role of government, supply and demand issues and the management of tourist transport provision. Modes of transport, impacts for destinations and transport routes, regulations and policies are also examined.